BY JANET MCQUEEN
Two-term State Senator Vic Franckiewicz will not seek re-election this fall, citing personal reasons.

The former Bay St. Louis mayor will begin summer classes tomorrow at Loyola University, where he plans to complete law school next spring.

The decision was a difficult one, Franckiewicz said. "I have thoroughly enjoyed being a Senator. I love the work, but there isn't enough time to do the job properly and still handle the politics."

He noted the election will be the third for District 46 in the last four years.

"The new elections will be a waste of time and money. The federal court should have settled reapportionment last summer by establishing new districts for the regular election, or should have delayed the elections until the lines could be established."

"Because the court did not fix the problem, we are spending

Legislative candidates face June 5 deadline

June 5 at 5 p.m. is the deadline to qualify for candidates for the Mississippi Legislature this year, said Secretary of State Dick Molpus. First primary will be Aug. 4 with the second primary run-off Aug. 25.

Democratic, Republican and Independent candidates have the same qualifying deadline, although the names of Independents will not appear on the ballot until the Nov. 3 general election, Molpus noted.

Recently, the U.S. Justice Department approved legisla-

Bay native tours with Jimmy Buffett

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Bay St. Louis native Kathleen Stieffel is touring the United States, fulfilling her farthest reaching dreams. As a member of "Evangeline," a five-women, one-man band, the group has cut its first album and is the opening act for the Jimmy Buffett 1992 tour. "It is everything I ever thought it would be," Stieffel exclaimed during a phone interview from Cincinnati, Ohio.

The 1973 graduate of Bay High School confessed to always having been interested in music and acting.

She said the road to her present success has not been easy, and suggests anyone interested in a musical career should exercise the three "Ps," perseverance, practice and play.

"Never say 'no' to any gig," she stated. "Play all the time. Take the gigs that no one else will play, even if they pay little or nothing, and try to write. You will never get anywhere playing someone else's music."

Cities' piece of sales tax pie not to decrease

BY JACQUI COCHRAN AND TRACI BONNEY

The state expects sales tax refunds to municipalities to remain the same or increase for fiscal year 1993, despite changes in the collection and return rates.

Tomorrow, sales taxes statewide will increase to seven percent. However, beginning July 1, only 18 percent of the total amount of monthly collections within each municipality will be returned to city revenue accounts.

This represents a one percent increase in total collections and a 2.5 percent decrease in the amount returned to the cities.

State Tax Commission administrative assistant Eddie Beck reported combined state collections under the new tax, including growth, are estimated at $1 million a year above present collections.

Beck explained that the collection month determines the percentage of municipal refunds.

For instance, May taxes at six percent will be collected by the state in June, and 20.5 per-

Cities, counties agree on joint disposal plan

BY TRACI BONNEY
Hancock, Pearl River and Stone County officials have agreed to endorse a plan to combine their garbage disposal operations.

The decision was reached at a tri-county meeting Thursday that included Bay St. Louis and Waveland mayors Edward Favre and Stella Frilot, the Hancock and Pearl River County boards of supervisors, one Stone County supervisor, consultant Lloyd Compton and Waste Management official Bill Johnson. Favre, Frilot and the Stone County representative each agreed to recommend the idea to their respective governing boards, and the Pearl River and Hancock supervisor boards all expressed their approval.

The various boards will meet next Monday and Tuesday to vote on the matter. Those that agree to it will pass resolutions authorizing letters of intent to join in regional waste disposal and minimization plans.

The regional plans are being developed by Compton at the officials' request, in response to state and federal mandates that each county in Mississippi submit by July 9 a plan outlining how the counties intend to handle waste disposal for the next 20 years. In addition, each county must explain how it intends to meet a goal to reduce waste by 25 percent over the next three years.

Frilot expressed concerns about the collection aspect of the plan, but after some discussion Compton assured her that waste collection is not to be addressed in the plan and that each municipality may choose its own method of collection.

Waveland currently collects its residents' waste without charging them a user fee, instead using tax millage to cover the collection costs.

However, Compton confirmed Frilot's statement that according to a state mandate, each municipality and county will be required to establish a user fee for each household. He told those present that after 1995, millage can no longer be used to pay waste disposal costs.

He told the officials the state recently passed an amendment allowing a penalty to be levied by the county against any person that fails to pay the user fee,

Evangeline

Stieffel said Evangeline was about six weeks old when they won the 1988 Jazz Search Contest in New Orleans, claiming a cash prize and a spot at the annual Jazz Fest.

"I was just about ready to throw in the towel," she claimed. "I was so tired of playing little bars on Bourbon Street for hardly any money."

Quint Davis, executive director of the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival, took an interest in the band. He was friends with Buffett and seized the first opportunity available for the star to hear the group.

Buffett offered Evangeline a deal in November of last year and the group signed the contracts in January.

Evangeline is the first new act to be signed to Buffett's new record label, Margaritaville Records.

Evangeline's self-titled album is unique in its blending of country, Cajun and rock. As a matter of fact, it really has no classification as music type.

According to Stieffel, upon release of the album she went to a Tower Records Store and found the album in the 'Rock and Roll' section; at another store it was among country selections, and yet at another, the album was with new releases.

She commented, not fitting into any category is to the band's advantage. As a crossover band, they will have a broader appeal.

Evangeline's music is delivered by three lead vocalists.

Stieffel plays acoustic guitar and sings lead vocals on five of the album's 11 songs, in addition to recording a duet on the poignant Nancy Griffith song "Gulf Coast Highway," with mega-star, Buffett.

She co-wrote one of the five with Carole Edwards producing one of the album's most tender ballads.

Stieffel praised her fellow members and their multiple musical talents and contributions.

Along with Stieffel is Nancy

Buchan, fiddle and mandolin; Sharon Leger, bass, washboard and vocals; Rhonda Bolin Lohmeyer, guitar, fiddle and vocals; Beth McKee, keyboards and vocals; and Dudley Fruge, drums.

According to Stieffel, Evangeline is presently busy planning the next album. "This time we want to write at least 90 percent of the songs."

"We now have a four-track recorder we can easily set up in our hotel rooms."

Evangeline will be on tour until after Labor Day. Stieffel said the tour has 54 dates or performances, some of which are repeat nights in the same city.

She intends to return home following the tour, or possibly in between. Her parents, Ray and Ann Stieffel, live in Bay St. Louis.

"I know one thing," Stieffel stated, "I won't be able to sit around too long with out getting antsy."

For now, for Stieffel, life is one big dream come true and she says she is soaking in every delicious and fun-filled moment.

Ban on burning suspended

A ban on outdoor burning issued last week in Hancock County has been revoked, according to County Forester Mark Jamieson.

Jamieson urged citizens to guard their fires carefully. Continued dry weather earlier in the month prompted the ban by Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh.

cent of that total will be paid to the cities. However, only 18 percent of the total June taxes at seven percent, which are collected in July, will be refunded.

Beck added that in spite of the reduction in the percentage returned to the cities, no decrease in the dollar amount is expected; on the contrary, a slight increase is anticipated in municipal refunds.

For the month of April, local sales taxes collected by the state were: Bay St. Louis, $42,310; Waveland, $57,820; Pass Christian, $16,364; Picayune, $119,750; and Long Beach, $75,113.

Beck stated that overall, from July 1991 to April of this year, gross tax collections for the state have increased 3.5 percent from the previous year.

tive reapportionment, with the general election planned to coincide with the Nov. 3 presidential election. Up for grabs will be 122 seats in the House of Representatives and 52 in the Senate. Every 10 years the houses must reapportion themselves to adjust for population changes.

Also on the Nov. 3 ballot will be candidates for county school board seats from Districts 1 and 2 and election commissioners from all five supervisors districts. The school board elections are non-partisan, with the winner to be the top vote-getter, instead of having a run-off. Election commission candidates will run by parties or as Independents, with a runoff election set for Nov. 17.

either by placing a lien on the person's property taxes or by seizing his vehicle or other personal property. If neither method is feasible, he added, the county can fine the person for non-payment.

He said his recommendation is that the counties establish the user fee early next year and apply the funds to the waste minimization goal. "This will give us time to experiment with the user fee," he commented.

Compton explained that the user fee can not be applied to waste disposal and collection until after the current municipal and county contracts expire.

If all the local boards pass resolutions endorsing the disposal and minimization plans, a public hearing will be set for June 23, 7 p.m., at the county Civic Center.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I spoke to Greg Smith, Buccaneer State Park manager on Thursday, and he was telling me about the upcoming opening of the park's 40 ft. Double Flume Slide.

The water slide, one of the largest in this area, should be ready for use on June 13. Note, this date will be confirmed later.

The Wave Pool at Buccaneer is already open on a daily basis, and weekends have been showing good crowds, Smith said.

The area for the wave pool, water slide and tots' pool will be designated as "Buccaneer Bay."

When the water slide opens, the admittance fee will be $9 adults and $7 for children. This will include the use of a tube in the Wave Pool and use of the three facilities for an entire day.

Hours of operation is from 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m.

Smith reports he is working on a 'pay one price' for the entire season, which will be introduced after the Water Slide opens. There will be family and individual memberships.

I know many of the youngsters and some a little older, have been anxiously awaiting the opening of the water slide.

We will keep you informed as to the exact date.

Sounds like a lot of good fun at Buccaneer State Park this summer.

Next Saturday will be the big day for the dedication of the new Diamondhead Fitness Trail.

The track is one-third of a mile in length and will be lighted at night and will also have a warming station, park benches and a water fountain.

I am sure the Diamondhead Fitness Trail will draw as much attention as the Hancock Walking Track in front of the Hancock Medical Center in Bay St. Louis.

It is good so many are concerned about their health, and exercising is on the increase.

A featured performance by the award-winning Jefferson Children's Chorus will be during the special ceremonies from 4 to 7:30 p.m. next Saturday.

The Fitness Trail is located next to the Diamondhead Country Club.

A special appearance of "Teardrop the Clown" is also planned.

Fried chicken and beverages will be served on a cash basis.

It appears Diamondhead is going all out for the new track's dedication.

Looking for a good home.

There is a large number of dogs and kittens looking for a good home at the Waveland Animal Shelter.

The shelter is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is located behind the Waveland Fire Department.

Max Burns and his wife recently saw a photo by Jacqui Cochran in The Echo of a 'terrier' with a title of "Cute as a Button."

Max said he and his wife 'fell in love' with the dog via the photo and immediately called to claim ownership.

This was five months ago. If you guessed the name given by the Burns to the dog was 'Buttons,' you were correct.

Max dropped by the office the other day with Buttons, and it is really hard to tell who is the proudest, the owner or the pet.

So, if you are looking for a pet, why not consider the Waveland Animal Shelter; they may have the perfect one for you.

The shelter's telephone number is 467-0230.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Alumni game termed success by organizer

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank all of the people who helped make the Bay High and SSC alumni football game a success.

When we started planning this thing about four months ago, we talked about renewing interest in the community concerning the rivalry between the two schools. We wanted to bring back the intense school pride and friendly competitiveness that has always existed between the two schools, but has seemed to decline over the years.

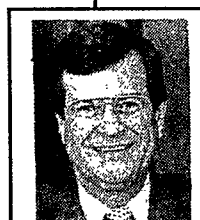

Bringing back all of the great players from over the years brought out a tremendous crowd on both sides, each feeling their team was definitely going to win.

Hopefully the spirit and competitiveness of this game, which will be an annual event on Memorial weekend, will carry over to the regular season and both our schools will be fully supported.

There are too many people to name individually who put a lot of time and effort to make this game a success. You know who you are, and we are extremely thankful.

Bay High won the game this year, but like they say, "There's always next year!"

P.S. We'll be ready for you! Sincerely yours, Michael J. Proulx, Bay High Alumni Football Coordinator, Bay St. Louis

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Political Titanic

Something that started out just as emergency disaster assistance for the innocent victims who lost their homes and businesses in Los Angeles now has turned into another Christmas tree for the Congress.

When the Emergency Supplemental Appropriations for Disaster Assistance traveled from the House to the Senate, once again, members could not restrain themselves. Unfortunately, they asked for an additional $1.45 billion for completely unrelated programs which had not cleared leadership, conference, the administration or where even brought up in the House appropriations.

I do think we have an obligation to assist the men and women who had homes and businesses destroyed in the LA riots. They had a disaster just the same as if it had been a tornado, flood or hurricane in Mississippi. When we have those disasters, we ask for help.

To help those who lost homes and businesses with Federal Emergency Management Agency or Small Business Administration assistance—I am for that cut and dry. But, in the House, they added the Chicago flood problem to the emergency funding.

Now the flooding in Chicago was caused, as I understand it, by government negligence and incompetence. But, even so, innocent victims suffered loss, so I agreed to go along with aid—although it's a much closer call.

The bill produced by the House only cost nearly $500 million, not an insignificant amount by any means but an amount that would cover the damage that was caused directly by the riots and flooding problems.

Then it came to the Senate, and typically the spenders went crazy by adding another $1.45 billion to this bill for all kinds of unrelated programs. A lot of these programs are not emergencies at all. Many have adequate funding now, and in fact could delay how fast LA and Chicago will receive emergency help.

This supplemental went from less than $500 million to nearly $2 billion. Congress has messed it up again. And, now they want the President to designate it as an "emergency," and therefore just add it to the federal deficit instead of paying for it by cutting other programs or with revenue.

It's the wrong approach and it's irresponsible spending. And, that's why I offered an amendment to strike all funds for other than dire emergency needs in LA and Chicago, which will save adding $1.45 billion to the deficit.

I will vote for emergency funds for Los Angeles and even Chicago, but not for "add-ons" directed at every possible program that Congress can cook up. Unless it's cut back to just those two emergency disasters, I plan to oppose this "political Titanic" of a bill.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions and/or comments about this column. Please write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (c/o Press Office).

Tigers 10, Rocks 7

First alumni game draws overflow crowd

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sea Coast Echo general manager Randy Ponder served as honorary coach of the first annual Bay High/St. Stanislaus Alumni Game last weekend. The following is his commentary on the game.

BY COACH RANDY PONDER
Bay High School alumni defeated the St. Stanislaus alumni 10-7 in a football game played in Rock-A-Chaw Stadium Saturday, May 23.

The GAME had something for everyone: big plays, questionable calls, a packed stadium full of vocal, partisan fans, and certainly excellent coaching.

Excellent coaching? Before anyone accuses me of being the least bit biased, I will make one thing perfectly clear. I am biased! And more than a little bit. I was the honorary coach of the Bay High team. The winning coach.

This was, in all probability, my one and only chance to coach (or pretend to coach) a football team. I went into the game with lofty goals, planning to play it to the hilt and have a great time. And if we won, we won.

Actually the players coached themselves. They worked out for several weeks prior to the game. They developed a game plan, a set of plays and a first and second team. They also had real coaches on the sidelines. People like James Smith, Gary Griffin and Gayle McRaney.

St. Stanislaus won the coin toss and elected to defend to start the game. This meant that Bay High would get the ball to start both halves. We coach-types didn't understand why the Rocks did this, but we were very appreciative. It was probably the difference in the game. Just kidding.

The Tigers ran three plays and were forced to punt. In this game, no one could rush the punter and only two members of the punting team could go down field.

As the ball was snapped to the punter, our two players took off. Flag! And five yard penalty. Replay the down, and the same thing happens again.

This is my first chance to run onto the field and argue with the officials. They quickly reversed the calls with the realization that the players were allowed to run on the snap. Round one to the coach.

After an exchange of punts, Bay High went to work. Behind the determined power running of Brian Laneaux, the Tigers moved into Rock-A-Chaw territory.

Quarterback Mike Proulx then tossed a lateral to Aaron Whavers, who in turn passed the ball to a wide open Darren Smith for the first score of the game.

Following another exchange of punts, the Tiger second team moved deep into Rock land only to almost self-destruct. Not to worry, just send in Joel Duncan to kick a 41-yard field goal for three more points and a 10-0 advantage.

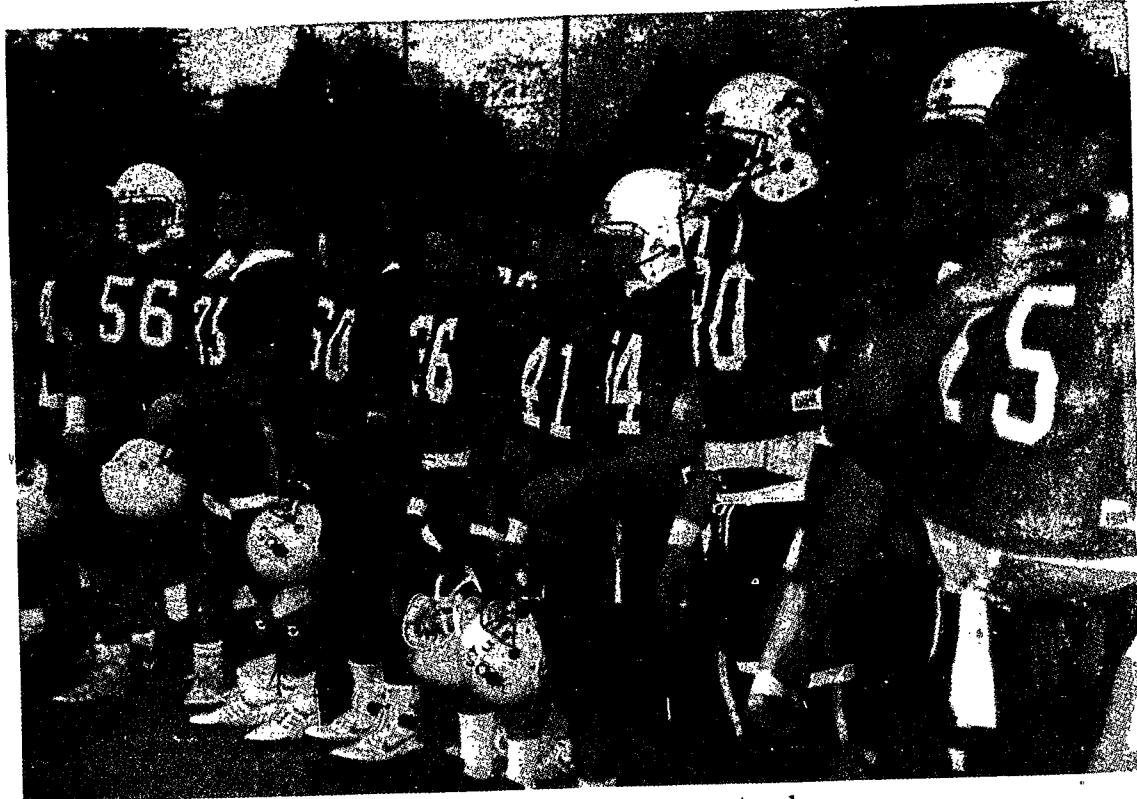

In a game of this nature, each player should have a chance to get into the game. This is not as simple as it sounds. Everyone wants to make the big play, be the hero. You know, do something really memorable they can tell the kids about. In short, once they get into the game, they don't want to come out. An honorary coach, like a backup ball player, gets only a certain amount of respect. Not much!

Tiger defensive backs came off the field after Logan's run and explained what happened. "He put a move on me. He faked one way, I bought it, and flash, he's gone."

Near the end of the game, how well the game was played. And the fact that there were no major injuries. That the packed stadium and cheering fans were reminiscent of the glory days of the Bay High and St. Stanislaus rivalry.

St. Stanislaus players prepare to play

As the game entered the second half, several people had not played. These players were gathered together for the purpose of sending them into the contest one by one.

The first went in with instructions to replace one of the guys with his tongue hanging out. He went into the huddle and then returned to the sidelines. "He won't let me play coach. He told me to get off the field."

Time for the next player to go in. This time the sub goes into the huddle, then up to the line. No one comes off the field. We run the play with 12 men. No flag, just a mishandled snap for no gain.

After that down, another player is sent into the game with instructions for two others to come out. Into the huddle, up to the line and again no one comes out. Flag! I guess they thought, "Hey, we got away with 12, why not try 13?"

Sean Logan then scored for the Rocks on a twisting, turning, dancing (you add the next adjective) run up the middle to make the game more interesting.

One of the big, out-of-breath

Darren Smith intercepted a pass to stop the last drive of the Rocks, near the Tiger goal line.

The Most Valuable Player of the game for Bay High was Brian Laneaux. Sean Logan earned the same honors for St. Stanislaus.

The game generated a lot of talk around town this week. Many people commented on Sean Logan, Mike Proulx and everyone involved in this event are to be congratulated. Not only was the game fun, it raised money for the United Way, the two schools and the Jaycees. It also brought the community together for an evening of fellowship and an exhibition of good sportsmanship. Hopefully this is only the beginning of an annual event.

Gill gets authority to open shrimp season

The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks voted to give BMR deputy director Joe Gill authority to open shrimp season when it is projected that shrimp will reach 68 count.

Presently, BMR biologists do not have enough information to make the projection.

Sixty-eight count means that shrimp are large enough to number 68 shrimp to the pound, the minimum legal size for shrimp to be caught in Mississippi.

Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries, made the recommendation.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

A tangy and speedy dessert is the Key Lime Pie made famous by keepers of the kitchens along the Florida Keys at the state's southernmost tip. Some say that the Key Lime pies came into being just after the Civil War, when sweetened condensed milk found its way into the sparse cupboards of the vanquished Southerners.

Cooks along the Keys sought ways to temper the sweetness of the condensed milk, and reached for limes from the trees growing around their homes, and a new taste treat was born!

Since I haven't a lime tree of my own, I'll have to settle for limes from the market, or even bottled lime juice at times (wish I had some of those special Florida limes around!) although the fresh limes and the zest, or grated rind, sharpen the taste. There are many variations of Key Lime Pie; but my favorite is made with a crumb crust and is topped with whipped cream. Here's:

KEY LIME PIE

For the crumb crust:
Mix 1/3 cup melted butter with 1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs and a generous tablespoon of sugar. Press into a 9-inch pie pan, and chill until ready to fill.

For the filling:
3/4 cup lime juice

3 egg yolks
1 can sweetened condensed milk

Approximately 1/4 teaspoon grated lime rind

Whip the egg yolks with the condensed milk, and gradually stir in the lime juice and grated rind. Pour into the chilled crumb crust, and chill for several hours. Whip a cup of cream and spread over the filling—that's all there is to it.

You may, of course, substitute whipped topping for the whipped cream. This pie is also quite tasty in a conventional baked pastry shell with a topping of meringue instead of the whipped cream; that way, also, you use up the egg whites at the same time, instead of thinking up something to do with them later on.

I like to make individual Key Lime pies, as well as miniature pies (using tiny muffin cups or tiny tart pans).

Stir fry takes prize in beef cook-off

The third time was a charm for Jackson resident L. W. "Tap" Godbold; first place honors at the 1992 Mississippi Beef Cook-Off went to his recipe, "Beef with an Oriental Flair."

The recipe utilizes marinated beef top sirloin with mushrooms, snow peas, water chestnuts and long grain wild rice.

Winning the conventional range competition, Godbold, 81, was awarded a cash prize of $1,000 and will receive an expense-paid trip to the National Beef Cook-Off Sept. 17-19 in Sacramento, Calif. Godbold, a retired coach and teacher, has been a finalist in the Mississippi Beef Cook-Off since 1990, but has never won until this year.

BEEF WITH AN ORIENTAL FLAIR

Preparation: approx. 45 min.

Yield: 6 servings

1 1/2 lb. boneless top sirloin, cut 3/4" thick

4 oz. fresh mushrooms, sliced

4 oz. snow peas, broken in halves

1 carrot, peeled and cut in thin slices

2 stalks hearts of celery, chopped

1/2 can sliced water chestnuts

2 cups long grain and wild rice with herb seasoning (packaged mix)

1 1/2 tsp. sesame oil

1 tablespoon cooking oil

1 red bell pepper

1 green bell pepper

parsley
Slice beef sirloin in thin strips and marinate one hour or more, if desired.

Marinade

3 oz. soy sauce

1 tablespoon brown sugar

1 1/2 teaspoon sesame oil

1/2 tablespoon lemon juice

1/8 teaspoon garlic powder

1 oz. bourbon

1 cup water

1/2 teaspoon salt

Place meat in a zip-lock bag, pour in marinade and refrigerate turning bag over 3 or 4 times until ready to use.

In a two quart sauce pan put 4 1/2 cups of water, add salt and 2 teaspoons of oil. When the water comes to a boil add rice with herbs and stir. When it returns to a boil lower heat to simmer, cover tightly and cook 25 minutes. When done put in a 4-cup ring mold (sprayed with oil).

While the rice is cooking, the vegetables and beef can be prepared. Drain the beef and set aside. Combine 2 tablespoons cooking oil and 1 1/2 teaspoons sesame oil. Place 1/2 of the combined oils in a WOK or a deep heavy skillet and stir-fry the vegetables for approximately 5 minutes over medium high heat, stirring constantly to keep it from burning. With a slotted spoon, remove vegetables from WOK and set aside. Put the remaining oil in the WOK and stir-fry the beef for 3 to 5 minutes or until desired doneness. Return the vegetables to WOK with beef and cook until heated through. The rice is to be unmolded onto a round platter or tray. Spoon the beef mixture into the center of the rice mold. Garnish with strips of red and green bell peppers and sprigs of fresh parsley.

Freshness vital in seafood selection

DOWN HOME

By Darlene Underwood
Hancock County
Home Economist

People who know about seafood like seafood. They know it's easy to prepare, it's tasty, it's nutritious, and it's economical.

SEAFOOD FRESHNESS

Fin Fish—Stand on the shore some crisp day and take a deep breath. Smell the clean sea breezes. That's how fresh fish should smell. When fish begins to have a distinct odor, it may not be fresh. So don't be afraid of the nose test.

The freshness story is also told by the eyes—yours and the fish's. Look to see if the fish's eye is shiny, round and clear. If it's dull, bloody and sunken, look elsewhere. A cloudy eye, however, might be caused by contact with the ice, in which case you'll have to rely on the nose test.

The gills of a fresh fish are clean and red, not sticky. The scales should shine and hold tightly to the skin.

Pick up a fillet. It should hold tightly together and definitely be free of slime if it is fresh.

Keep fresh seafood refrigerated wrapped air-tight and use within a day or two.

Shellfish—One general rule for shellfish sold alive is to be sure they are still alive immediately before cooking. In other words, lobsters and crabs should be moving, and oysters, clams and mussels should be holding their shells tightly together.

For fresh shrimp and similar shellfish sold prepared or partially prepared, here is a rule of thumb—use your thumb to press the flesh. If it's firm and bounces back, it's fresh. Shell-on-shrimp should be relatively even in color.

BROILED MULLET

2 pounds mullet fillets

1/3 cup soy sauce

1/2 teaspoon ginger

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon liquid smoke

1 clove garlic, chopped

3 tablespoons margarine, melted, or vegetable oil

Lemon wedges to garnish

Skin fillets. Cut fillets into serving-size portions. Combine remaining ingredients except lemon wedges and mix thoroughly. Place fish on a well-greased broiler pan; brush with sauce. Broil about 3 inches from source of heat for 4 to 6 minutes.

Turn carefully and brush other side with sauce. Broil 4 to 6 minutes longer, basting occasionally until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve with lemon wedge. Serves 6.

BAKED AMBERJACK WITH MUSHROOMS

2 pounds amberjack steaks or other fish steaks,

2/3 cup sliced onions

1 1/2 c. chopped mushrooms (fresh or canned)

1/3 cup chopped tomato

1/4 cup chopped green pepper

1/2 cup chopped parsley

3 tablespoons chopped

1/2 cup dry white wine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dill weed
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Lemon wedges

Thaw frozen steaks. Cut into serving-size portions. Arrange onion in bottom of greased baking dish, 12x8x2". Place fish on top of onion. Combine remaining vegetables and spread over top of fish. Combine wine, lemon juice and seasonings. Pour over vegetables. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 25 to 30 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve with lemon wedges. Serves 6.

Peas by any other name taste as good

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

They're called cowpeas, field peas, southern peas and even proteas, but to most people they're just plain peas. Peas are a staple on almost every plate lunch served in Mississippi and are one of the most popular garden-vegetables grown.

Peas have been around so long we've come to think of them as a native Mississippi plant, but it's not. The plant is probably native to central Africa and came to us from northern Africa, Europe and the West Indies. Records have peas being grown in North Carolina in 1714 and Virginia before 1775.

Since peas are tropical in origin, Mississippi gardeners should delay planting until the soil has reached a temperature of at least 60 degrees for rapid seed germination. Preplant fertilizer should supply phosphorous and potash, but only a little nitrogen because once established, the plants are capable of fixing nitrogen. Therefore, 13-13-13 is not as good a fertilizer for peas in many instances as 5-15-30 or 0-17-34.

Providing too much nitrogen fertilizer causes the plants to make all vine and few if any peas. Most old garden sites probably have enough residual fertilizer to grow peas with little or no additional fertilizer.

Plant pea varieties known to be disease resistant to reduce problems in the garden. Knuckle purple hull, once a popular brown crowder type of pea, has no disease resistance and has been largely replaced by disease resistant varieties like Mississippi purple and Mississippi shipper.

California blackeye No. 5 has been replaced in the Southeast by magnolia blackeye. Pinkeye purple hull, probably the most popular pea grown, is being replaced by Mississippi pinkeye.

For a long time peas were grown mainly as a soil improving crop and animal food. The plants make a lot of vegetation rapidly, fix nitrogen, and are high in protein. Somebody decided they were good to eat, and breeding programs for variety improvement sprang up all over the Southeast with researchers in several south-

A MARRIAGE REQUIRES A LOT OF PREPARATION TO SUCCEED

A marriage without conflicts is almost as inconceivable as a nation without crises.
— Andre Maurois

The day you both say, "I do," is not really the beginning of your marriage, but it should be the culmination of a lot of preparation and discussion of the issues that are likely to become points of contention after the ceremony. These can include a wide range of topics, such as how many children, money matters, working wives, religion, division of household chores, recreational activities and a host of other things. All of these should be ironed out beforehand, so that the only surprises that await you newlyweds will be pleasant ones. However, if some problems do arise, go to your House of Worship, which you should do in any case, and talk to your clergyman about them. After all, he performed your marriage; perhaps he can help you save it.

Mississippi Gulf Coast Scenes is informative despite its age

BY TRACI BONNEY
Although it is 15 years old, Mississippi Gulf Coast Scenes by Joseph A. Arrigo remains a charming and informative coffee table book.

BOOK REVIEW

Scenes offers a sampling of the landmarks along the Coast, from Waveland to Pascagoula. Excellent, detailed pen-and-ink illustrations are accompanied by brief paragraphs of information about each landmark.

Arrigo takes each stop along the Coast in its turn, starting with the Pirates' House in Waveland, a nineteenth century home that was a victim of Hurricane Camille. The Wilson Home in Waveland, another Camille casualty, is also noted, as are St. Stanislaus, the St. Augustine Cemetery and the Wayside Shrine in Bay St. Louis.

Across the bridge, the book resumes its literary and visual trek at Ballymore in Pass Christian. The Dixie White House is the other Pass Christian landmark Arrigo visits on his journey.

For both older and younger readers, Mississippi Gulf Coast Scenes is an aesthetic and intellectual treat. It evokes a sense of nostalgia for those familiar with the landmarks shown, and offers an interesting lesson in local history for those of the newer generations — whether they are young Coast natives, or whether they are recent transplants to the Mississippi Riviera.

While you will enjoy simply gazing at the illustrations, I would encourage you not to skip the introduction. It gives a capsule history of the Coast and captures the essence of the area as seen through the eyes of an artist/writer.

The 96-page paperback book, distributed by the author and through Pelican Publishing in Louisiana, is available at Bookends Bookstore on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Registration still open for 'Spout About Books'

Registration is still open for "Spout About Books," this year's summer reading program, sponsored by the Hancock County Public Library System, according to Prima Wusnack, library system director.

Registration, which is open to children grades preschool through eighth grade will last through Tuesday, June 9. The program will run through July 13 at all three branches of the system—the Kiln Library on Tuesdays at 1:30 a.m., the City-County Library on Wednesdays at 10 a.m. and the Waveland Library on Thursdays at 10 a.m.

There are two parts to the program, the reading incentive part and the activities part. Participants of the reading incentive part must visit a branch library at least six times during the program and check out at least six books between now and July 8.

A certificate and goodie bag will be awarded each participant who completes the requirements. Merit stars will be given for every five books read beyond the basic reading goal. Awards will be presented the week of July 15.

Activities include face painting on opening day, a visit by Buttercup the Clown, a book signing by author Steve Shepard, a puppet show, crafts and much more.

To register, children must come to the branch they intend to visit, have their library cards checked and complete the required forms.

Registration will continue through the first week of the program, but no registration will be held during the scheduled activities. Registrants are urged to come early or stay after the program to register.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724, Karen Peoples, Waveland Library, 467-9240, or Myra Haynes, City-County Library, 467-5282.

If the data proves successful the component will be shipped out on Feb. 5 via river barge to Michoud. There it will be off-loaded and put on board a sea going barge for passage to Cape Kennedy. The component is scheduled to become part of the first Saturn V vehicle whose launch date is anticipated to be in the second quarter of this year.
